

The Wright Stuff

A Word from Bob Wright

It's that time of year again. Yes, the time of year in which every non-profit on the planet (good or bad) embraces the deductibility of a portion of individual and corporate tax liability. If the organization is a 501c3, generally the total of the "give" achieves deductible status. This appears to be a "win-win" for both giver and receiver and, in a sense it is. However, who really does the homework on the charities, what their work entails, and the success or failure rate of their endeavors? How many really seek to know where and how this money is spent? The answer is simply – not many.

We like to say that in many cases, these dollars simply are deposited into a huge, dark, sucking hole – never to be seen or heard from again. Sadly, it usually happens that way. Are you giving to Susan G. Komen this year? The American Cancer Society? While your heart is in the right place, perhaps your money could be better spent. With much of the budget going to overhead and the advancement of conventional medicine and drugs, these are a couple of organizations that I would avoid “at all cost.” And, before the breast cancer survivors skewer me for that remark, know that I know you are doing it for what you feel are all the right reasons. I challenge you to simply ask what your money is being used for. Nine times out of ten you will be told “cancer research.” C’mon, really?

I am here to tell you that the good’ol boy network of cancer researchers is delighted with your choice. Despite the fact that very little is ever accomplished that is of any consequence, they are understandably appreciative that you pay their salaries and keep them working. I for one am tired of it.

We don’t need much more drug and allopathic research. And, this new immunotherapy research (it’s not new) has already been done. We know how to stimulate the human immune system – the only thing that heals cancer – and we have virtually known it for millennia. Trying to activate the immune system with drugs is a non-starter for me – and it seldom works. But what the heck, cancer patients are so desperate that they allow themselves to become human guinea pigs (their thoughts – not mine) – so they will do anything. We just wish they would come and see us first.

You see, we have known since our inception that the immune system is the only thing that heals cancer – or any other sickness or disease. So, doesn’t it make sense to build it up rather than break it down? We use the natural solutions that do just that – not the chemicals and radiation that virtually destroy the only thing that can bring us to healing.

Think about it. Hundreds of millions of tax-deductible dollars will be given to non-profits in December – and a lot of it won’t do any good at all – at least for those who really need some “good” in their lives. Unfortunately, the organizations doing the real work will see very little of that.

We, and a few other organizations, can point to almost unlimited success with what we do. When you use what God gave us to keep the body well – and heal it when it's not – one usually gets positive results. No, I am not going to shove any statistics down your throat, but I'll bet this makes sense to you, as well.

We are totally invested in, and “sold out” to, health and healing – and prevention. Our delight, and payment, comes from healed bodies – not more research (although we do that, too). I consult with cancer patients every day – for no payment. Gee, who does that anymore? This is not about me, though. It is simply about doing the right thing and telling people the truth. Truth is a mighty thing. When people embrace it they discover the real power behind it and it makes a visible difference in their lives. So, we are about truth, hope, and leadership. We prescribe huge amounts of all of these – the only thing that we actually “prescribe” to patients. And, it changes people. Physically, mentally, emotionally, and spiritually.

I know that many wonder how we can do this at no charge. Well, we rely on you for that. Our foundation has been largely supported by sales of the book, “Killing Cancer – Not People.” I must report that sales have been reasonably good, allowing us to continue our work so far. It's not enough, however. In order to build on what we have accomplished, we need your further support. We ask that you consider us this month – whether or not you are seeking a tax-deduction. We are AACI Newsletter worthy, and always have been. We are an IRS-designated, 501c3, and your donations are always deductible.

Also, consider purchasing a copy or two (or a case) of our book – they make great Christmas presents. In order to facilitate getting this into more hands this holiday season, we are doing what may be our last (for a long while) 2 for 1 sale. Buy one book in December, get two; buy 2, get four; buy a case of 28, get a case free. By doing this you are spreading the word about what really works for cancer – and all sickness and disease, again – and what doesn't. You are also helping us to continue our work, the work that is only about helping people. Go to our website at www.americanaci.org and order right there. Your support is deeply appreciated.

Blessings, Bob

P.I.O.H. – What it is

Many of you who have been reading our monthly newsletters have already met Dirk Yow and done several PIOH sessions. One of you has now surpassed me in PIOH “events” – having done 40 to my 36. Congrats! For those of you who do not know what these entail, Dirk gives a brief explanation below so that you can get a better feel for it.

Keep in mind that we believe that this type of down-to-the-cellular-level detoxification is the best we have ever seen – by far. Dirk is now practicing out of Sitka, Alaska and Longmont, Colorado. After the first of the year he will open up in Vancouver, British Columbia. If you are interested in seeing him (and you should be), feel free to contact him at 206-459-0102 and/or alightingonwater@gmail.com. He will give you all the information you need and answer all of your questions.

PIOHTM – Ceremonial Purification Precision Intestinal Oxidative Hydrotoning Dirk Yow

Precision Intestinal Oxidative Hydrotoning (PIOHTM): How did I come up with a name that sounds so different from the more usual generic terms? Colonic irrigation, colon hydrotherapy, high colonic, internal bath or, put simply, “colonic” are some common names for what is often assumed to be the same universal procedure involving the use of water in the colon. In such a procedure, a lubricated tube is inserted into the anal orifice and water is introduced in a series of one or more fills in order to flush the colon.

*If you take the time to compare various clinics, spas, and private practices, either by looking at websites or calling and conversing with a hydrotherapist, you will hear such terms as “open system,” “closed system,” and “filtered water,” and sometimes you will even get the impression that the procedure is nothing more than a glorified enema you could do at home. In actuality, procedures can vary dramatically in terms of duration and type, as well as the specialist’s training, techniques, and experience. The core theory and machinations of a PIOH session include the following crucial components: hydration, drainage, and aerobic supplementation.

Hydration

In the third of a century that I have been working with colon hydrotherapy, I have learned the Holy Grail of an optimal procedure: to use ultra-purified pH-balanced water and nothing else! The water molecule, H₂O (H-O-H), consists of one oxygen and two hydrogen atoms, yet this simple molecular formula alone does not begin to adequately describe water. The colon has an amazing attribute – a unique ability to absorb large amounts of water. This ability is remarkably enhanced by the quality of water used.

Drainage

Only by maximizing the first major component (hydration) and applying specific techniques can the colon be triggered to drain properly. It may take more than one PIOH session for the body to adapt to the procedure and begin to drain. The crucial drainage response involves peristaltic (muscular wavelike contractions) along with systemic responses (i.e., portal and lymphatic mesentery). These responses can only be verified by a trained PIOH practitioner who observes and compares each individual's sessions and uses that information to further evaluate the overall influence on the stated health and wellness goals of that individual. The responses can, in part, be used as a way of measuring progress towards those goals.

Aerobic Supplementation

Besides water, oxygen is by far the most important substance an individual requires to maintain and/or recover their health. One of my valued mentors, Dr. William Turska, said "Oxidation is life." Considered the father of oxygen therapies in North America and, to me, a master of drugless healing, Turska never performed a single hydrotherapy session of any kind. Nonetheless, through his initial guidance and through the experiences accumulated during many years of doing this work, I began to incorporate polyatomic oxygen (a dynamic cascade of bioavailable oxygen in multiple forms) as an effective and efficient component of PIOH sessions that dramatically enhances the body's ability to detoxify and heal itself. Unfortunately, this third crucial component of PIOH is generally ignored by most colon hydrotherapists.

As a PIOH Practitioner, I integrate these three components (hydration, drainage, and aerobic supplementation) with numerous methods and systems of approach as each individual case dictates. No two colons are exactly alike (in history, diet, constitution; no two individuals are the same), and, thus, I adjust my techniques to fit each client's individual situation and help him or her reach and maintain optimal quality of health.

Cancer Breakthrough?

The following is a letter I just received from my good friend, Maureen Long, Holy Grail Cancer Care in Cancun, Mexico. Many of you may remember her as the owner of Camelot Cancer Care in Tulsa, OK, when her clinic was literally “attacked” by the Feds in full riot gear with guns drawn – for literally no reason at all – except that she was healing cancer patients much more often and more effectively than the Cancer Centers of America down the road. All of her money was stolen and she was indicted in another state (again, for no reason) and forced to flee the country so she could make her case against the Feds. She settled in the Cancun area and opened Holy Grail Cancer Care – and is once again up to her old tricks – helping and healing cancer patients.

She developed the new Formula M you will read about and recently added IV pancreatic enzymes that have appeared to make a major difference. IV pancreatic enzymes have been outlawed in the U.S. since about the 1960’s because they work way too well. We can’t have that now, can we? Please read the letter below. If you care to contact Maureen about treatment, use the website listed or email through info@holygrailcancercare.is. And tell her you read about her in this newsletter.

Bob, I have delayed passing this news on to you, as I wanted to be really SURE. We were having to hold off, waiting for a pathology report. But we are now cautiously optimistic we stumbled onto a breakthrough. This is big enough that you need to know about it, before your December newsletter comes out.

I am enclosing 3 attachments. The first is a single page text pdf, labeled Buzzyresearch. (The friend it was assigned to. Sorry, couldn't rename it.) It summarizes the background history of intravenous pancreatic enzyme therapy in the US, which was banned by the FDA in 1966. Only oral route is legal in the US now. Knowing the history makes the attached images all the more significant. We all know that the late Dr. Nicolas Gonzales (who trained under Dr. Kelley) was having good results with oral pancreatic enzymes he dispensed through his clinic in NYC.

And Dr. Kelley cured his OWN pancreatic cancer and many other cancer patients, using IV pancreatic enzymes. Now take a look at my first attachment, one page of text.

We see the history; that there were two doctors using intravenous pancreatic enzyme therapy in the US, one in the 1930's and another, in the St. Louis area, in the 1960's. He was very active and successful, until he was attacked by conventional practitioners and targeted by the FDA, which banned IV pancreatic enzyme therapy in 1966. (Without any cause or justification. Not a single patient was ever harmed. They just did it arbitrarily--as they did recently with IV vitamin C.)

So, since 1966, pancreatic enzyme therapy has only been legal by oral administration in the US. And as we all know, anything taken orally is acted upon by hydrochloric stomach acid and bile salts, so that only about 20% makes it into the circulation. So by restricting pancreatic enzymes to oral administration (since 1966) the FDA managed to cut the efficacy of this treatment by 80%. (I know. One can only imagine how many patients didn't survive as a result of the potency being drastically diminished.)

Myself and a brilliant medical maverick (that doctor's name must remain anonymous for the moment, to protect him from becoming a target) could not help but wonder what would happen if we modified Formula M by adding cannabis extract (to increase appetite and control pain) and also pancreatic enzymes to our IV formula. Mexico is after all beyond FDA jurisdiction. So, a few weeks ago, the newer Formula, MCP, was launched.

We could not be sure we had a winner yet, after only a few patients, because it usually takes a post treatment PET scan for comparison (measuring the metabolic activity of malignancy, by gauging its glucose isotope uptake in adenopathy) to determine if there is any reversal. If a tumor mass has no means of exiting the body, a scan is the only way to tell. But the Herxheimer reactions--mostly mild in duration--were encouraging.

Bear in mind that the base of Formula M (now MCP) is DMSO. When you research it (reading closely in Dr. Morton Walker's book, "DMSO: Nature's Healer"), the animal studies done decades ago by Dr. Tucker proved that IV DMSO (by itself) was causing malignant tumor masses to revert back to normal tissue, in some cases, and in others to change into scar tissue.

To understand it, it helps to know that hematoxylin--a tissue dye--was added to the DMSO IVs which were then administered to all of the animals, which had biopsy confirmed cancer. Later, when the test animals were sacrificed, the orange dye that had migrated into former tumor masses was detected during necropsy.

Dr. Tucker was a veterinarian. However it should be remembered that mammalian physiology is similar across the species. Predictably, Dr. Tucker's early work was ignored and buried by the medical establishment. Fortunately for posterity, later researchers picked it up and expanded it to clinical trials on humans. The rest is history.

Now, keep in mind that Dimethyl Sulfoxide (DMSO) is also a carrier solvent and delivery agent (binding with any organic substance of a similar molecular structure)... do you see where I am going with this? "What if" DMSO and pancreatic enzymes were combined and administered IV?

Imagine what the two could do, synergistically. Well, we did it. But until recently the patients in our clinical trial all had solid tumor masses in other areas of the body, not the colon. It couldn't be determined if they had resolved until we could get post treatment scans.

And then we got a break with our most recent patient. She is a 66 year old female colorectal squamous cell carcinoma case, stage III, who presented with a large anal mass, 5 cms, attached to the anterior side of the rectal vault, just inside the anus. NO PREVIOUS CONVENTIONAL TREATMENT, and diagnosis confirmed by biopsy.

Please take a look at the images in the second attachment to this email. These are colonoscopy images. Number 4 is the closeup scope image of the tumor mass. Now please take a look at the image in the 3rd attachment: a specimen passed two days after hard Herxheimer chills following treatment with Formula MCP. It contained our standard natural chemo formula, (including B17 and another botanical extract--a highly fungicidal steroidal glycoside) plus cannabis & pancreatic enzymes dissolved in DMSO, administered IV.

The image of the mass was captured right after it went into a specimen cup, before it was covered in formalin and rushed to a pathology lab, in Cancun, which FedExed it to Mexico City for histological examination. We had to wait ten days to get verbal confirmation on it. (The report itself is still in transcription, and will be in Spanish when we get it.)

But its squamous cell ca, beyond any doubt, and is clearly the size and shape of the colorectal mass. AND, the patient reported she can no longer feel the hard lump that had been growing in her rectum. The following day, she was able to have her first bowel movement in months without straining to get past the obstruction.

Unless a patient happens to have a mass that is in the colon or rectum, it cannot pass because it has no way out, even when the malignant tissue turns necrotic in response to treatment and begins to slough loose from the surrounding tissue where it was attached. The body has to reabsorb it or convert to scar tissue. It usually takes a scan to determine if it was resolved or not.

This time we got visible evidence, when it actually passed. I knew you would be excited about this. All our patients are now getting cannabis extract and pancreatic enzymes in their daily IV treatments. We are seeing more Herxheimer chills (triggered by rising uric acid levels, from tumor lysis syndrome) sooner in the course of treatment.

Patients formerly had to wait up to ten days or longer for the evidence of the treatment hitting the target. But now many are experiencing Herx within the first 72 hours. (Incidentally, this patient had stopped herxing in response to treatment, approximately 2 to 3 days before passing the mass.)

The addition of cannabis extract and pancreatic enzymes seems to have boosted the efficacy of Formula M, making it high octane. Yes, we draw labs and monitor chemistry panels, to ensure there is good kidney and liver function. The new treatment is very well tolerated. No ill effects have arisen.

Bob, I knew you would want to know about Formula Mv2.0 (grin), now evolved officially into Formula MCP.

What will happen with this patient? Well, 2+ months ago, she had previously had just one 20 day round of Formula M, before we added Cannabis extract & pancreatic enzymes. Her PET scan indicated that we had resolved the formerly "hot" lymph nodes, returned to normal. But the primary mass was still there, in the rectal vault.

Now, after another round and a half (30 days) of enhanced Formula MCP, it appears that the mass has passed. The pathology report seems to indicate that finding, but the next PET scan will tell the tale.

Yes, we are expanding clinical trials to a larger patient base. We are preparing to submit our application, with supporting data, seeking official COFEPRIS approval.

For those who may not know, COFEPRIS is the Mexican equivalent of the FDA, but without a draconian agenda to serve big pharma.

When Camelot emigrated to Mexico, along with that came the ability to enhance the formula, and finally to offer clinical trials with natural, nontoxic chemo. Yes, you can publish our preliminary findings, with a tone of cautious optimism. It would be a shame not to. For some patients and their families, this news--and the hope it brings--may come in time for the holidays.

Testimonial for Magnesium and Minerals

From Dr. Carolyn Dean's email to me, enjoy the testimonial below about the effects of ReMag and ReMyte (pico magnesium and minerals) on cholesterol and, especially, thyroid function.

“Here's a story from a health professional who waited to try ReMag and ReMyte, but wished she had started them much earlier so her body could have benefitted from 7 extra years of hormone balance.

I wanted to share what I have noticed using your ReMag and ReMyte. Even for me, as a certified holistic health coach, it has been quite amazing, and that does not happen often! Since I already try to do all the things I know that add to great health I was elated to have some 'knowable' benefits directly associated with your minerals and magnesium. I already took magnesium citrate and various minerals, but I still had some issues. Now those issues are reduced or GONE. For example, my cholesterol is down and all other lab tests are in the normal range, including vitamin and mineral labs.

I was hypothyroid, taking 90 mgs. of natural Armour Thyroid each evening at bedtime for about 2.5 years, but after my recent doctor visit, now I am only taking 90 mgs. every other evening. The lab test showed I did not need nearly as much! Yippee!

Dr. Dean, the only difference in my daily regimen is taking ReMyte and liquid ReMag, or the ReMag Lotion. I truly know in my heart that these minerals had been deficient in my body, and hence, the issues were trying to get my attention to fix that imbalance. The body is all about balance, and I did not have it. I expect that my hormones will find better balance too, but after only 2 months of using these products, it's probably too soon but fun to anticipate!! I only wish I had started them long ago when I met you at the 2012 LA Health Fair. I knew you were sharing excellent products, but stupidly, I never bought them until now!

–Suzi

As a holistic health coach, Suzi understands the importance of keeping the body topped up with adequate minerals and nutrients. This allows it to keep our levels and systems balanced, including the thyroid and hormones.

In case you missed it, I covered the topic of hormone balance in the Dr. Carolyn Dean LIVE radio show. We really want you to grasp the importance of these minerals, so please listen to the radio show.

You can get ReMyte Mineral Solution in 8oz or 16oz bottles at: <http://rnareset.com>

*Aloha,
Dr. Carolyn Dean*

Pets Need Minerals, Too!

For those of you who have pets, please keep in mind that they require adequate minerals just like we do. And, the average non-food, dog food is not getting them these. Pico minerals in the form of Dr. Dean's ReMyte can be used for our pets. See below.

Are your pets getting adequate minerals?

Here are 5 essential minerals and what they can do for pets.

- 1. Copper for bone and joint disease, color of coat, and ligament and tendon issues*
- 2. Manganese for skin and hair abnormalities and bone and joint development*
- 3. Selenium for immune boosting, muscle cramping, and stress*
- 4. Zinc for immune support*
- 5. Magnesium for cardiovascular support, as well as anxiety and asthma*

Typically dogs and cats get trace minerals in their food. 3-5 drops of ReMyte® Mineral Solution in a gallon of water will replace the minerals lacking in food. And, if your pet is eating dirt - it's mineral deficient.

We believe your pets deserve access to the same health alternatives that are available to you. That is why highly-absorbed ReMyte Mineral Solution is the best way to ensure your pets meet their mineral intake requirements.

HOW STEM CELL PATCHES WORK

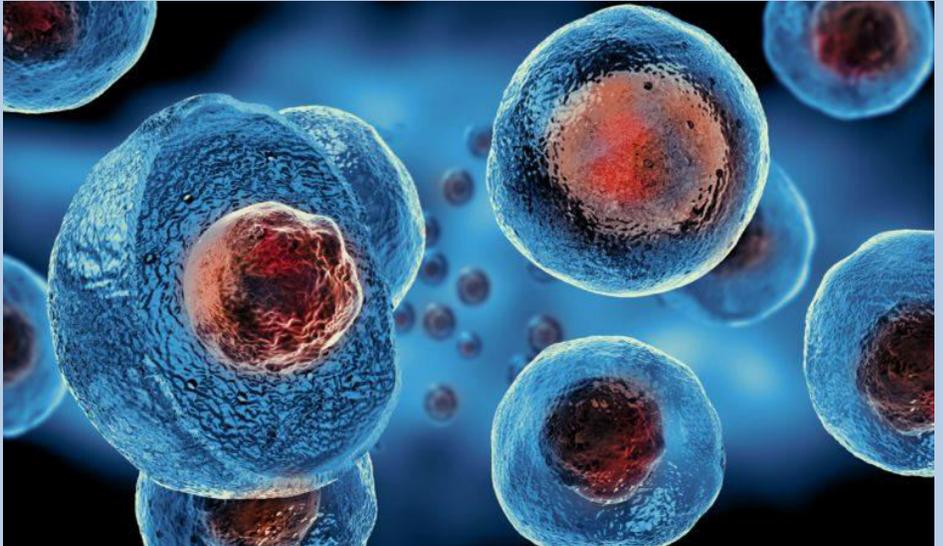

For several months we have been forwarding the stem cell patches from the company called LifeWave. I must tell you that they have proven to be everything that the clinical and scientific studies say they are.

The real question that looms large with everyone is – just how do they work? If there are no stem cells in the patches, where do they come from. Well – and simply – they are your own stem cells and they come from you. The patch is not transdermal – meaning that nothing goes from the patch through your skin and into your body. The patches contain only organic, food-based materials; a couple of amino acids and a little bit of sugar – that’s it. But the technology itself goes far, far deeper than just describing amino acids and their capabilities in the body. Here’s how it works. We put the patches on in the morning – usually sticking them to the base of the neck at the C7 vertebra or just below the belly button – then take them off about 12 hours later and throw them away. These two positions are said to be the most viable and accessible – although the patches themselves could be placed just about anywhere.

The patch is activated by the heat of the body. These means that it starts immediately to reflect a certain spectrum of light (phototherapy) that is emitted from the body, back into the body based upon its patented technology. This seems of little consequence to most until understanding what this action actually causes to happen within the body.

This reflected light stimulates nerves just below the skin which, in turn, elevates the peptide GHK-Cu which is known to decline with age. When elevated, this tri-peptide (peptides make proteins) activates the body's stem cells providing incredible benefits such as better wound healing, heightened energy, deeper sleep, rapid pain relief, and even a reduction in the appearance of lines and wrinkles (from the company's literature and proven in clinical studies).

What people don't pay attention to is the fact that the tri-peptide itself (GHK-Cu) accomplishes literally dozens of health benefitting feats in addition to elevating, motivating, and migrating one's stem cells.

For instance, this peptide up and down regulates at least 4,000 genes and resets DNA back to a healthier state. It down regulates expression of metastatic genes. GHK-Cu stimulates blood vessel and nerve growth, increases collagen, elastin and supports dermis, promotes tissue repair in the lungs, bones, liver and stomach lining, is cell protective, has multiple anti-cancer activities, is anti-inflammatory, suppresses molecules that accelerate diseases and aging, is anti-anxiety and anti-pain, repairs DNA, and is cell cleansing.

All of these is in addition to what the newly stimulated stem cells are doing for you. Stem cells have the ability to differentiate into any cells in the body. As a result, they are instrumental in repairing our bodies after injury and disease and for keeping us young by helping to produce more collagen (the most abundant protein in the body). And this is just a partial list.

Friends, turn the clock back. The math is simple. Buy the patches. Wear one for 12 hours per day, then take it off and throw it away. Put a new one on the next day. Continue this for 90 days. See the difference. And, you will.

To take a look at this new stem cell technology, go to the website www.LiveYoungerLonger.org. There are a few short videos there that you can watch that will bring you up to speed.

To place an order, go to www.LifeWaveX39.com/aaci. I am so confident in the technology that I fully expect that most reading this will do exactly that. The cost is $149.95 per month or, by paying a small annual fee of just $25 and setting up to receive these automatically every month, the price goes way down to only $99.95 per month. Now, I understand that for some – that will still be a high price. It is worth it Friends – every cent of it. What is your health worth to you? And, please hear this: This technology may well change the face of health and wellness as we know it in this entire world. YES, I did just say that. When you look at the research and how this works, why it does what it does, and the results that are realized – I think you will agree with me.

If you have questions, please email the AACI at info@americanaci.org or Shelly Oslie, who is handling this for us, at shelly@americanaci.org/. Believe me when I say, you won't be sorry. And, don't wait. It is truly the time for this one-of-a-kind product.

Reminder: When enjoying the benefit of Stem Cell Patches, you are also supporting AACI to further our research of Disease Prevention. We thank you!

Annus Horribilis – 2015

My good friend and cancer survivor, Marcus Ellis, relives his fight for life through his personal testimonial below. Marcus is passionate about helping those with cancer and continues to offer his expertise to many in his quest to eradicate this dis-ease. Please read.

.ANNUS HORRIBILIS – 2015

By Marcus Ellis

Similarly to 1992, when Queen Elizabeth coined the term in the year Windsor Castle burned and several tragic things happened to the royal family, 2015 was my own “Annus Horribilis”, a year of horror, indeed.

TRIUMPHS .AND TRAGEDIES

In September of 2014, my name appeared on a plaque in the Cleveland Corporate Headquarters of the insurance company for which I worked- proclaiming that I was the number one salesman in America selling, of all things, CANCER POLICIES. My family and I were elated! I was helping teachers all across the state with financial assistance if disease ever struck. However, things changed radically...and quickly.

That very month, I suffered what I thought was a workout injury after using new gym equipment one morning. But strangely, this ‘injury’ never healed. My left side instantly ballooned out in excruciating pain and where abs should have been, a weird, swollen left side appeared. A fun house mirror didn’t look any worse than my own side! When I asked friends and people in the health professions about this, everyone kindly reassured me it would likely get better soon. “Not to worry”, they said. But it didn’t get better.

I am a former gymnast, cheerleader, marching band director, gourmet catering and event planning outfit owner and more. A Renaissance man of sorts, always healthy and physically active. However, my left side never returned to normal. I began experiencing difficulties eating - eating anything. My body slowly began shutting down. Ignoring it did not help. Nothing helped. I dropped 50 pounds in the next 6 weeks, sweating thru my bed linens 3-4 times each night. [Little did I know that this intensive sweating was a sign of spleen cancer...]

Quietly, my family moved into panic mode. All my best efforts hadn't worked. So in January of 2015, since I was too weak to drive myself, they asked our neighbor to drive me to Vanderbilt Hospital. I don't really remember much about that fateful day as my mind was far from clear by then. I was just a shadow of my former self, now weighing in at about 135 pounds, unable to walk unassisted. When the staff came in to give us the news of what was wrong, they said the dreaded words: "You have CANCER". But when they told me this, I responded with a chuckle, "No. You don't understand. I SELL cancer insurance. I don't have cancer!?" Obviously I wasn't thinking rationally. They quickly disabused me of that notion, saying not only did I have cancer but that it was Stage IV, Non-Hodgkin's Lymphoma of the spleen. I only had a few days to live. I was stunned. Vanderbilt informed us that my spleen was 5 times normal size. It had exploded, ruptured on that workout day in September. They rushed me into emergency surgery to relieve the pressure on my colon that had been totally blocked and directed me to begin the chemo/radiation/drug protocol, the standard operating procedure in oncology today.

"A LONG DAY'S JOURNEY INTO NIGHT"

Transferring to another Nashville hospital for insurance reasons, I endured this standard operating plan for the majority of that fateful year, suffering a horrific list of "side effects". From head to toe, I was given direct effects of their treatments that I had never had before: neuropathy in my feet, osteoarthritis in my hips, pulmonary embolisms [blood clots on the lungs], a probable heart attack requiring an emergency cardiac unit stay, bone loss/ gum loss in my teeth requiring dental surgery, the destruction of my immune system, the ubiquitous loss of all the hair on my arms, chest, head and other major problems resulting directly from their treatments. I felt like I was on a medical merry-go-round that was a nightmare. I have since come to use the more appropriate term 'collateral damage' – a military term - to define what was happening to my body since I had never had any of those issues during my entire life prior to allopathic treatments. It was gruesome. During the course of these treatments at the hospital, I regularly sat with people who also had been surgically implanted with chest ports, enabling the oncologists to directly inject toxic materials into our bodies. These patients and I were all turning various shades of gray and green in ever weakening conditions.... becoming 'the walking dead'. Of course, the kind attendants wore surgical gowns and face masks to administer the lethal materials and if they dropped any of this material on the floor it was an immediate "HazMat" situation. I questioned that if this was so dangerous to them, why were they putting this into us? No one ever answered.

Meanwhile at home, my family moved my bed from the second floor into the first floor Library. I could no longer even climb the stairs that I had been used to running all my life. Since we are a family of teachers, we have a large library on many topics, including Aramaic, Hebrew and Natural Health. I was virtually quarantined in my home due to having no immune system: during the treatments, I could not go to public places for fear of catching a cold or virus that my body now would be unable to fight off. So during the endless months of intense sickness –on the rare occurrence that I could even raise my head off the bed - I tried to read our books and research cancer on the internet. During this time I was hooked on morphine for pain which was so severe I couldn't sleep without it. I knew something was wrong with this chemo/drug/radiation plan but didn't know how to do any better. I was merely enduring a string of endlessly bad days... and bad nights.... only with the help of my vigilant family. When I had used the prescription of morphine up, by this time, I had found that this addictive pain-killer was wrong for my organs. So I went in to Oncology and asked the Oncologist for any other options. I was told there were none....and he sent me home that day with another prescription for more morphine! I was hopelessly hooked.

Slowly, very slowly, information began to emerge that there may be other ways of beating cancer. My family and I repeatedly asked our Heavenly Father to intervene and help. Soon we began to discover some pretty radical ideas.

I developed a network of people across the country and beyond who were healing and curing cancer naturopathically/biologically. Many were featured on The Truth About Cancer, The American Anti-Cancer Institute, and the Cancer Tutor among other sites. One of the books on our bookshelves was by Gary Tunsky, a brilliant Nutritional Biochemist from Florida.

His small book was entitled “What in the Cell is Going On?!”, a very catchy title which featured amazing insights that matched my own experiences from years ago when I had been a Minister of Music at a huge Dallas Mega Church where one of my parishioners had undergone the daunting conventional oncology treatments of that time. The cancer doctors back then had first surgically removed her entire cheek. Then they took off her nose. Then her eye. She had also lost all her hair, was wearing a wig and a prosthetic device grotesquely covered her bloody face much like a real life Phantom of the Opera. She had open, running sores on her legs and had been abandoned by her family. Yet she clung to life by her faith – and by the wonderful assistance of another brilliant man, whom I'll call “RK”, who travelled the world at the behest of rulers and kings, healing and curing cancer. During visits to her lonesome trailer, my family came to know RK who began to tell us many other healing stories with which he was involved.

One story in particular remained lodged in my memory for decades. He said that the Director of Oncology at a world renowned cancer hospital in Houston had come to him with his cancer-ridden wife, asking RK to help heal her. Of course, he took her case. But when he asked the Director, "With all the tools of that renowned cancer hospital in your hands, why are you coming to me", the answer was astonishing. Permanently etched on my mind were the Oncologist's words: "You don't give chemotherapy to those you love". I never forget them. Somehow, through my fog of 'chemo brain', I obliquely recalled the truth that over 35 years ago so-called "alternative" or better named "natural" cures for cancer already existed! Now if I could only find them for myself! It was a race against time. By September of that Annus Horribilis, I believed the worst was over since I had taken the entire protocol of treatments that were scheduled. I now weakly felt up to going out of the home on occasion but I had already missed significant events in my high school daughter's life. One Friday evening, I decided to go to her Homecoming Football game where she was the Assistant Field Commander of the Marching Band. The sights and sounds of football surrounded me: the teams, the cheerleaders, the bands, the flags, the stadium Klieg lights, the food, the banners, the roaring fans, and the cheers were filling my senses. I was surrounded by life. But at that very moment, a strange call came into my cell phone - the Oncologist was on the line. 7:30 at night. Hm... I thought this timing was quite odd but I gingerly picked up that call as I was sitting in the crowded stands. He then said the words I never wanted to hear: "We didn't get it all."

My jaw dropped. It was surreal.

*Life surrounded me. And now I was face-to-face with my own mortality. Again. I fumbled a response. "Wh....wh...what does that mean?" "You need more chemo, radiation, a stem cell transplant, maybe even experimental treatments" was the answer. "But don't worry", he continued, "I have them all set up for you." I was shocked. Speechless. I finally mumbled, "What if I don't do any more treatments?" He said, "I will give you 6 months."

I let that sink in. I was now "TERMINAL"! And this, AFTER a year of cancer ravages, treatments and damages from the treatments. I quickly calculated: March 17th, 2016....my oncologist's predicted date of my death.

Being given a death sentence is unimaginable for most. I was very low. Yet I cried out for Providence to intervene. "Father, how should I proceed?? Please help me!"

A LONG NIGHTS' JOURNEY INTO DAY

The next day, I got my answer. I called Gary Tunsky, the author of that small book in my library. He was very insightful - and most understanding of my critical illness. He asked me to drive to him in Florida and once there he used state of the art diagnostic tools 40 years ahead of the AMA, both non-toxic and non-invasive. He produced a 35 page report that was amazingly accurate and a custom-made protocol for me to follow. I returned to Nashville and followed that protocol exactly for the next 6 months. Many new foods. Many new ideas. Huge learning curve, indeed. I never saw him again.

In early 2016, the hospital Oncology Department surprisingly called me one day asking for a "follow up appointment". The young receptionist asked what date I wanted. I nervously paused.... "Hm.... how about... March 17th?" She said that would be no problem, so we booked the date. She had no idea that was the precise date of my predicted death. When I arrived to the hospital, they did a Chem 24 profiling along with the usual blood work and lab assessments. Amazingly, zero cancer markers came back. It was incredible to my family and me. A miracle had occurred. On the very day I was supposed to be dead, I was ALIVE...And cancer-free!

Sadly, NO ONE in oncology even inquired about what I had done. I left without anyone speaking to me about this. Truly fireworks went off in my thinking! I finally put the pieces of the puzzle together... Cancer is NOT a disease, it's a BUSINESS. Oncology did not want to know what I had done. And to this day, I remain absolutely incredulous. No one from there has ever asked WHAT I DID! Clearly stated, I have found that the current medical establishment cancer journey was just about money. My own failed treatments by Oncology cost approximately $400,000 while the successful natural treatments cost under $25,000. All the "run for the cure", "race for the cure", "hope for the cure", "walk for the cure" slogans are just massive pink ribbon propaganda. THE CURES ARE ALREADY HERE. And I am living proof. But importantly, here's where my story gets a bit more complicated.

TIME IN A BOTTLE.... TIME FOR A CHANGE.

Among the many hats I wear, is one of an insurance broker, as mentioned earlier. I had been rated tops in the nation, specifically selling high volumes of cancer policies. These policies were treatment based, which means whenever a patient actually takes chemo or radiation or drugs, etc., he or she is reimbursed specifically for each treatment. However, my own company – as most companies do today - routinely denies all claims for natural/biological treatments. My own company denied assisting me with ANY of the costs of the life-giving natural treatments - even after I opened the dialogue throughout all levels of management and finally pursued it all the way up to the Corporate President. I received no help whatsoever. This was another eye-opening moment. Health care providers AND INSURERS are in on the pink ribbon scheme!

Due to these sad facts along with my own internal conflict of conscience, I determined I needed to part ways with the company, leaving, by best estimates of a Senior VP, “at least $100,000.00” on the table. By the close of 2016, I had discovered that most insurance companies are directly tied into the grand mirage being set before the American people. Every day, 1,600 people in America will die from this business/disease. Well over $260,000,000,000.00 [that’s BILLION] a year is the cost. In full cooperation these groups work in concert:

the medical establishment (with its small toolbox of outmoded and often barbaric treatments with zero guarantees of success),* the pharmaceutical giants (rushing to counterfeit products that occur in nature but cost victims billions of dollars while providing virtually zero long-term success),* the governmental “watchdog” groups (such as the FDA and CDC that are no longer protecting our people from corporate greed) plus* the legacy mainstream media (that is literally bought off by pharmaceutical advertising revenues).*

ALL of these institutions are marching lockstep with the healthcare insurance companies to create the full blown medical mirage we see today.

What may come as a shock to some is what I have discovered from the inside: what passes for “healthcare” today in many regards is merely “symptomology suppression 101” or “disease management”. The cure is constantly discussed as being ‘elusive’ or ‘just around the corner’. Even epidemiology of cancer has eluded oncology. Upon my questioning the origins of my disease, my own Oncologist replied it was merely “the luck of the draw”. But something more diabolical is afoot than this purposeful ignorance: almost total suppression of accurate information about treatments that are un-patentable by pharmacology has become the American norm. So much for decades of “research” since Richard Nixon pronounced his “War on Cancer” in 1971.

Of course, this mega consortium will never use the word “heal” or “cure”. They have virtually no education in nutrition, which is fundamental to the problem. The combined groups above frequently resort to using catchwords like ‘quackery’ or ‘scams’ putting fear into the equation while presenting naturally occurring protocols in a dark light - although many of these very protocols have been on the planet for 1000s of years and work beautifully. I might ask, which programs really are “alternative” medicine? [A quick study of the very short history of the American Medical Association (the “AMA”) would be quite instructive here. See the Flexner Report for more dramatic information.] I have discovered in my quest for the truth that all disease is cellular malfunction. Wherever the tumor site occurs is merely the symptom, and often springs from genetic weakness. But “root causes” need rooting out.

TARGET PRACTICE

Unfortunately, the hardworking, trusting American Middle Class is the target of this massive conglomerate. Since I am fully recovered now, I have turned my attention to assisting terminal or chronically ill people by bringing financial assistance to them for their battle. Today, I serve as both a cancer coach and a Financial Resources Advocate across the country, working in Viatical Settlements, and providing life insurance monetization that is truly a ‘hidden treasure’ for most Americans today. I delight to assist any and all in their journey....both in health as well as in finances to help achieve the goal of precious health.

THE ROAD LESS TRAVELED~

Robert Frost, the Poet Laureate under the President Kennedy wrote decades ago in his timeless poem...”and I, I chose the road less traveled...and that has made all the difference”. I, too, have chosen the road less traveled. I am alive to tell my story. Yes, this is my story. This is my battle. Won’t you join me in applauding those who choose to expose... and conquer the beast of cancer?

Hip Replacement Testimonial | LifeWaveX39™ Stem Cell Patch

Facing a hip replacement can be daunting, especially when you're anticipating a busy activity period ahead. See how X39 user Daniel DeMarco avoided immediate hip surgery.

I am thrilled with the results I get from X39! Last spring I was headed for hip replacement surgery. Though my hip was not yet “bone to bone,” the only option with my medical insurance was replacement. So, recovery during the summer seemed certain and sad.

I used IceWave and we all know it's great for eliminating or reducing pain, but I wanted to stop the wear and tear somehow, and enjoy the fun ahead. So I tried X-39 and within four days, I did not have trouble with stairs and getting in and out of my SUV or hip pain at night.

I followed instructions and adjusted my diet and did not take one pain pill. Summer just ended and I want everyone to know I continue to postpone this daunting overhaul!

Thanks, LifeWave!

Lung Failure Testimonial | Kangen Water® & UKON™ Turmeric

Interviewed by: John Lim- Ambassador of South East Asia Caring by sharing: Shirley Wong from Kayla Lumpur, Malaysia on October 25, 2019

From our friends in SE Asia, here is a great testimonial regarding much-improved health through the utilization of Kangen Water and UKON turmeric. It is presented in both English and Chinese and printed as written.

Lung failure : diagnosis of lymphangiomyomatosis/LAM

I was diagnosed with lymphangiomyomatosis/LAM in 2017. This is a very rare disease. Only 5 out of 1 million people. There were numerous cysts on my lungs. My lung tissue was severely damaged. The lung function was only 18%. Daily activity will cause blood oxygen drop sharply. I can't walk fast. I even can't do simple household chores. In April 2018, I started to have repeated pneumothorax. These months require 24 hours oxygen and wheelchair. My doctor prescribed a medicine, which stabilized my condition, but my physical strength was still poor. Moreover there were many side effects plus the liver enzymes began to rise. Therefore after 1 year on this medicine, the dosage need to be reduced. I worried my condition will get worse then.

In April 2019, my husband's good friend Wei How introduced Kangen water to us. After 1 month of drinking Kangen water, my physical strength and breathing was improved. And I can take a 1.5-hour flight without supplementary oxygen. On the other hand, there was a lymph node like the size of walnut in the left groin for years. It was shrunked after taking medicine, but about 1 year later, the lymph node enlarged again. After drinking Kangen water for two months, The enlarged lymph node disappeared.

Recently, I took Enagic company's turmeric capsule (Ukon). After a week, I coughed up a grey yellow thick sputum, and I felt instant relief!

Now, I am independent in daily life and I can go out alone without problem.

It's so fortune of me to know Kangen water which improved my quality of life after suffering from a severe disease.

肺衰竭: 確診淋巴管平滑肌增生/LAM

我在2017年確診淋巴管平滑肌增生/LAM，這是一個很罕有的病，一百萬人中只得5個，當時我的肺已纖維化和像海綿般，佈滿了無數的囊，肺部的組織已嚴重破壞，肺功能只得18%，日常活動會令血氧急跌，走路不能快，一般的家務也做不來，到2018年4月，我開始反覆的氣胸，這幾個月須要24小時氧氣和坐輪椅，日常生活不能自理。

在這個時候，醫生開了一種藥給我，也有看到效果，不過氣魄還是很差，而且有很大的副作用，加上肝酵素开始升高，所以在吃這藥一年後，醫生決心要減少份量，我很担心減藥後情況會變差。

在2019年4月我老公的好朋友維浩向我們推薦還原水。

喝還原水一個月后我的氣魄開始改善，呼吸通暢、可以走長路，坐短程飛機也不須要用氧氣。

而且在我的左邊股溝處，受的有一個好似核桃那麼大的淋巴結，已經幾年了，吃藥後初期是有縮小，但吃了藥接近一年之後，那淋巴結開始長回來了，但我喝還原水兩個月後，那淋巴結消失了。

最近，我更服用了公司的姜黃膠囊(Ukon)，一星期之后我咳出了一塊又灰又黃又濃稠的痰，頓時感覺呼吸通暢。

現在的我，日常生活可以自理和自己外出也沒問題。

我很幸運能接觸到還原水，這幫助我在遇上一場大病後，改善我的生活質素!

A financial service for using life insurance today™

For millions of people who are living with a serious illness such as cancer, heart disease, Alzheimer's or AIDS, the high cost of medical care can quickly deplete essential resources. The same is true for many people over the age of 75 who have complicating health factors. Just putting money aside for basic expenses such as groceries and mortgage payments can be a challenge. LIBI gives people a place to turn for additional resources. Through a financial service called a viatical settlement, we enable people to sell their current life insurance policies for a percentage of the total face value. The money people receive may be used for any purpose and, in most cases, is free of federal income tax obligations.

LIBI can help open the door to new possibilities—such as fewer financial worries, new options for medical care and additional resources to share with family and friends.
